

ASK POPE TO BLESS JUDGE O'SULLIVAN

He Is Seriously Ill in Summer
Home at Spring Lake,
N. J.

THREE DOCTORS CALLED

Mgr. McMackin at Bedside—His Condition Not Thought Critical.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., July 27.—Judge Thomas C. O'Sullivan of General Sessions court, New York, is seriously ill in his summer home in Monmouth avenue here. He is under the care of three physicians, having been in bed since last Friday. His condition became worse this morning. Members of the family sent for Mgr. J. J. McMackin of Staten Island to come to the Judge's bedside. Mgr. McMackin, it has been learned from friends, sent a cable message to the Pope, asking for a special blessing for the Judge, who is a papal knight. Though Mgr. McMackin and members of the Judge's family said late to-night that the Judge is better, it is said to be on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown and his condition has been aggravated greatly by stomach trouble. At the request of the family Dr. W. G. Schaffler, member of the Governor's staff of New Jersey, paid a long visit to the Judge to-day. In addition there have been in attendance Dr. Condit W. Cutler, the Judge's family physician of New York, and Dr. Herick Stearn of Spring Lake.

Four Sons at Home.
In the O'Sullivan home are Mrs. O'Sullivan and her four sons, Thomas Crain Jr., who was graduated from Princeton last month; Daniel J., Princeton '14; J. Mortimer and William J. They always spend the summer with their father and have not been called here through his illness.

Judge O'Sullivan was assigned to the July term in General Sessions. On last Tuesday, however, he became suddenly ill. He sent for his friend, Mr. McMackin, who in turn called Dr. Cutler. The doctor accompanied the Judge to his summer home and remained with him for a day or so. He insisted that the Judge needed absolute rest.

Though the Judge, who is a big, powerful man, has been in excellent health, he had a severe attack of pneumonia in 1907 and afterward suffered greatly with his eyes. Finally it was found necessary to remove one of his eyes.

The Judge sat on the porch of his home for a few days, but on Friday the Judge became worse and went to bed. The Judge is not permitted to read, but has been ordered to take absolute rest.

When the reporter for THE SUN called at the house this evening the members of the family spoke softly and begged that no noise be made that might attract the attention or the curiosity of the Judge.

"He will be out to-morrow," said one of the sons, Mgr. McMackin said that the Judge "gets rest and takes care of himself; there is no danger."

Fought His Way Up.
Judge Thomas C. O'Sullivan has had a picturesque career. He won his way against great odds and against physical handicaps, for when a boy, earning money to educate himself, he lost an arm in a factory.

He equipped himself in school such as few young men of to-day do. He taught school, studied law, mixed in politics and finally when he came to New York at the age of 32 he was prepared for the struggle in New York.

Judge O'Sullivan was born in Michigan in 1857. His parents went back to Burlington, where he was educated.

He became superintendent of the public schools in Chittenden. Next he went to Hartford, Vt., where he entered the law office of Gov. Pingree and became assistant superintendent of the Catholic parochial school. From there he went to head the male department of Wadsworth Academy in Ogdensburg, returning to Burlington to teach French and Latin in St. Joseph's College.

He entered politics and in 1888 he accepted the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

Entered College Here.
Soon afterward he came to New York, entering the Columbia law school. He got work in the County Clerk's office, settled in the Nineteenth district and began to make friends. He was elected president of the law school class and though he stood at the head of his class an effort was made to deny him his diploma because of a quarrel over a class matter between himself and Prof. Chase. O'Sullivan went to the court and won his case. He was admitted to the bar.

He joined Tammany Hall and because of his scholarship and his skill as a speaker he was put on the general committee and the committee on organization.

He was elected to the State Assembly and then to the Senate, where he once defeated Senator Lexow by objecting to Senator Lexow's report on the New York Police Department. Senator Lexow challenged him to a duel, but Senator O'Sullivan refused to duel, but Senator O'Sullivan, 4 feet tall and weighing over 200 pounds, laughed at him and passed over the incident.

He was elected Judge of General Sessions in 1905. Judge O'Sullivan has been active in Catholic Church circles. Because of his charity and his religious work, the Pope in 1908 made him a Knight of St. Gregory.

BAILEY FOR TEXAS GOVERNOR.

Ball Quits Race to Make Room for Ex-Senator.

AMSTERDAM, Tex., July 27.—Close friends of former Senator J. W. Bailey said today that he has decided to make the race for Governor next year and that he will probably make formal announcement of his candidacy in a public address at Pilot Point on August 6.

ROBBERS MISSES $40,000 LOOT.

Enters House as Workman and Carries Off Jewelry.

It was learned yesterday, but not from the police, that $50,000 worth of jewelry and a sum of money were stolen from the home of Henry Hellman at 471 West End avenue on Wednesday last. The police refuse to say anything at all about the robbery.

The man who committed the theft got into the Hellman house under the guise of a decorator. Mr. Hellman, who had come from the country for a few days, was at home superintending some renovating. The negro butler admitted a man, who said that he had been sent to finish some plastering and painting in the bathroom.

The stranger spent a little time pottering about with some tools in the bathroom and then left the house saying that he had to get more material for his work.

Soon afterward Mrs. Hellman discovered the robbery. Her trunk had been opened and from the tray had been taken a pin with seven large diamonds and twenty-four brilliants, $100 in bills and a gold watch and chain valued at $75.

The thief missed $40,000 worth of jewelry in a pasteboard box in the tray of the trunk.

SYLVIA PANKHURST AGAIN LEADS RIOT

Shouts "On to Downing Street!" and Is Arrested After a Fight.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, July 27.—Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is out of jail on license, was arrested again while she was addressing an enormous crowd in Trafalgar Square to-day. She was allowed to speak without interruption until she cried out "Let us all go to Downing street," when the police pounced upon her and took her back to jail. Twenty other suffragettes were arrested for creating a disturbance.

A shout of approval greeted Miss Pankhurst's announcement that she was going to defy the authorities and carry the resolutions adopted by the meeting to the Premier himself. She waved a bundle of papers above her head and was soon surrounded by a mob of excited, struggling people, who fell in behind her as a leader, and started for Downing street.

The crowd had been greatly worked up by Miss Pankhurst's address, in which she said that the time for speaking was over and that deeds, not words, were wanted. The mounted police scattered the crowd in all directions. Miss Pankhurst was grabbed by the policemen and bundled into a taxicab while she shrieked lustily for help. The foot police did not secure her until after a fist fight with a lot of East End toughs who acted as the woman's bodyguard.

Miss Pankhurst was still bellicose when she arrived at Holloway jail and struggled desperately with the officers. She smashed a window with a ruler which is used to measure prisoners.

It was for this same suggestion that Miss Pankhurst was arrested some weeks ago and sentenced to three months in jail. She urged the crowd in attendance to go to Downing street and wreck the houses of the Ministers. The mob followed her lead and the police had a hard time forcing it back. As soon as she entered Holloway jail Miss Pankhurst went on a hunger strike and was released on license on July 14.

Mrs. Pankhurst, mother of Sylvia, is now out on license and is in a serious condition. Christabel Pankhurst, sister of Sylvia, is a refugee in France, whither she fled after her indictment for complicity in the big London window smashing conspiracy about a year ago.

COPPER MINERS IN RIOT.

Troops Sent to Raynoldsburg or Sheriff's Appeal.

CALUMET, Mich., July 27.—Rioting occurred late to-day at Raynoldsburg and Sheriff Hefp of Keweenaw county telegraphed to Gov. Ferris for troops. Major Gen. Abbey sent a company of militia to-night to Raynoldsburg.

There was a parade and mass meeting of 5,000 striking copper miners to-day. The State militia are under way on the ground and preparations are under way to man the pumps in some shafts to-morrow morning.

The parade and mass meeting were orderly. No attempts to interfere were made by the soldiers. Western Federation officials addressed the gathering. They assailed Gov. Ferris for sending troops and said he would go down into history with Gov. Peabody of Colorado.

49,000 WOMEN REGISTER.

San Francisco's Bond Election to Have 145,000 Voters.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—One hundred and forty-three thousand voters have registered for the bond election on August 26, the highest registration in the history of the city.

Hundreds of men and women were turned away last evening. They came in such crowds that the clerks could not take care of them. Of those registered 49,000 were men and 49,000 women. Over 2,900 had their names placed on the books yesterday. The books closed at midnight.

This voting is for the authorization of $3,500,000 bonds for the acquisition of municipal street car lines.

COUSINS! NO, SWEETHEARTS.

Couple Change Declaration When Told They Can't Land.

Victory Lamy and Miss Andree Caplle, both of French extraction, arrived yesterday in the second cabin of the Cunarder Carmania, from Liverpool, and were held up by the immigration boarding officers. They said at first that they were cousins and were bound for a place in West Twenty-fifth street. The young man showed $150 and the young woman $1,000.

When they learned that they might be permitted to land if they were married they declared they were not related but were sweethearts and asked permission to be as husband and wife. The immigration officers detained them aboard ship under guard and will see whether they should have the privilege of marrying to land.

WANTS CANDIDATES TO TAKE 'ACID TEST'

Mitchel Proposes Fusion Inquiry of All in Race for Mayoralty.

STANDS BY HIS RECORD

Desires to Submit to Interrogation Regarding His Views.

John Purroy Mitchel, Collector of the Port and one of the candidates for Mayor, wants all candidates for Mayor interrogated publicly or privately by the fusion committee concerning their records, their political views and their attitude on important municipal questions.

He wants candidates for the office put through the same rigorous examination that any applicant for a business job would undergo. He would have them put to the same "acid test" that the board of directors of a big corporation uses in electing a president, a chairman of their board or any other man for an important executive position.

Mr. Mitchel made the suggestion in a letter to Joseph N. Price, chairman of the executive committee of the Citizens' Municipal Committee. He outlined a scheme that, he insists, would do away with the old time political deals. His friends believe the new method would substitute directness and simplicity for the rhetorical appeals.

Wants to Go on Record.

The fusion and the municipal committees have been making inquiries quietly into the records of the candidates for Mayor. Mr. Mitchel says he has been informed that untrue statements were made to the municipal committee concerning him. He accordingly decided to seek an opportunity to put himself on record and is determined to sink or swim on the strength of it. In his letter to Mr. Price he said:

"Reports have come to me that my record, views and proposals in respect to certain public matters with which I have had to do while a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment have been inaccurately stated to some members of your committee by persons either opposed to me personally or politically or lacking in adequate information as to these matters. I am informed that those misstatements have given some members of your committee inaccurate and erroneous impressions as to what my candidacy would represent were I nominated.

"Similar misapprehensions as to other candidates for the Mayoralty have doubtless arisen. It has been suggested that it will obviously be impossible, in the short time available, for the various candidates to be placed in the right light before those members of your committee who have been affected by such unfair criticisms, unless they have an opportunity immediately of appearing personally before your committee and answering fully any questions as to such matters.

Anxious for Inquiry.
"For myself, I beg to inform you that I am not only willing but I request to be accorded the opportunity to appear before the full committee if possible, or at the least before the sub-committee on candidates and the executive committee, to discuss any matter which any member may desire to bring up.

"I am willing to appear before your committee either at the time at which the other candidates are to be heard or separately, and either at a public or an executive session."

Before the present fusion committee was selected several persons suggested that there was no need of such a committee. They argued that the choice of a candidate should be left to the fusion Board of Estimate.

RAILROADS APPEAL TO PUBLIC.

Underpaid for Carrying Mails by $15,000,000, They Say.

The committee on railway mail pay, of which Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island Railroad, is chairman, issued a statement yesterday which says:

"The railroads maintain that at the present day they are underpaid by at least $15,000,000 a year. Their complaint is not against the standard of measuring such mail service as is paid for, but that a very large amount of service is demanded for which the nation makes no payment whatever."

The committee was appointed by the railroads to present their plea for increased compensation to the Congressional committee of inquiry. It represents 24 principal railroads with more than 218,000 miles of line.

The statement says that after several hearings the railroads have now planned to place their case before the public. No law, it says, compels a railroad to carry the mails unless it contracts to do so, and while the railroads concede that they have an obligation to carry the mails quickly and safely, frequently the courts hold that if the railroads contract to carry the mails they must do so on terms made by the Government.

SKATEER CAUSES AUTO SMASH.

Driver Loses Control When It Bites
Him on Neck.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 27.—A Jersey mosquito caused a bad automobile wreck at McKee City this afternoon in which five people nearly lost their lives. Three of them are in the City Hospital.

A. K. Siler of 213 Woodside avenue, Narberth, Pa., was driving the car. He was bitten on the neck by a mosquito while sending the machine around a curve. He raised his hand to swat the bird as the front wheels struck a rut and the car bounded into a ditch, whirled into a tree and upset.

The entire party, Siler's daughter Adele, 7 years old; Mrs. Adelaide Speck of Philadelphia and two others were pinned beneath the machine and got severe injuries.

McKee City is a small town in the Delaware River valley. The automobile was a 1912 Buick.

BORDEN YACHT OFF FOR ARCTIC.

for "Polar Honors."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The new yacht Adventure, in charge of John Borden of New York, son of Gail Borden, sailed to-night for the Arctic. Borden is accompanied by William Brown, superintendent of the Chicago Gun Club; Roy C. Andrews of the National Museum at Washington, and Harry Scott of this city. He has a crew of seventeen.

Borden will go to Nome and from there may explore Herschel Island and other lands of the midnight sun. The Adventure has been equipped with wireless apparatus.

"We are going to hunt seals and whales, when we get a chance, and maybe we will bring back some walrus hides," said Borden. "Possibly we may try for polar honors."

Andrews will take moving pictures of the Pribilof Island seal herd.

TWO WOMEN BURNED TO DEATH WITH OIL

Search in Church for Son Leads to Prayers for Them.

Two women were burned to death yesterday morning in the basement apartment at 17 West Tenth street when a two quart can of kerosene oil, used to build a fire in the kitchen range, exploded, setting fire to the clothing.

They were Mrs. Emma Franklin, 43 years old, and Mrs. Emma Franklin, 43 years old, of Susquehanna, Pa., her sister, who was making a visit.

Mrs. Johnson's husband, Martin, and Joseph Spindler of 60 West Tenth street had their hands burned trying to save the two women.

Mrs. Johnson and her husband are the caretakers of the house in Tenth street, which belongs to James A. Tedford, who is out of town. Mrs. Franklin joined Mrs. Johnson in the kitchen about 10:30 o'clock yesterday to get dinner. The two quart can of kerosene was held close to the stove and its contents poured in slowly. Instantly there was an explosion and cries of "Fire!"

Mr. Johnson was in the parlor. He ran through the three rooms to the kitchen and was clutching the two women, who were aware from head to foot. He tried to wrap them in blankets, but was held fast by a block away on Fifth avenue, heard the cries of "Fire!" and picking up two pairs of water ran toward the house and was joined by Joseph Spindler. They broke through the basement door and were met by the two women, who came running past them and fell one on top of the other in the arway in front of the house.

Three threw the water on them, but it had no effect. Spindler telephoned to Engine Company 15, less than two blocks away, and then helped Breen drag Johnson out of the flaming kitchen. The three men took blankets and wrapped the women in them as the fire apparatus came up.

The firemen could do nothing but use the extinguishers. The women were sent to St. Vincent's Hospital, where they died two hours later. Johnson and Spindler were treated at the hospital for burned hands.

Just around the corner from the fire on Fifth avenue is the Church of the Ascension. Mr. Johnson said his seventeen-year-old son Jack was worshipping there. Residents of the neighborhood went to the church and with the help of an usher found the boy and told him of the fire. He went direct to the hospital to be with his mother.

When the Rev. Dr. John Livingston, who was conducting the pulpit of the Church of the Ascension in the absence of the rector, the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, was told what had happened he offered a prayer for the victims.

WOMAN IS SCALDED TO DEATH.

Accidentally Turns on Hot Water in Shower at Free Bath.

Mrs. Ida Fogel, 60 years old, living at 157 Havemeyer street, Brooklyn, was scalded to death in the free bathhouse on Roosevelt street yesterday afternoon.

When Mrs. Fogel had finished her bath she entered the shower. There she slipped on the wet floor and grasping about to save herself, seized the hot water faucet. Her hand turned on the water and she fell screaming to the floor. Attendants ran in and turned the water off, but Mrs. Fogel was unable to speak English, but managed to tell the attendants that she had a sister, Rosie Eller, living at 95 Madison street. The sister arrived at the bathhouse before the ambulance had been summoned from Gouverneur Hospital. To her Mrs. Fogel told the story of her accident.

The scalded woman was taken to the hospital, where she died an hour later.

ALL PARIS GOES TO SEE "FORT" LANNES

Wealthy Travel in Autos, Others Occupy Slopes Near Barricaded Mansion.

STORK HOVERS OVERHEAD

Member of One of Poor Families in House Expects Visit.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

PARIS, July 27.—Over the roof of "Fort" Lannes, the mansion facing the Bois de Boulogne in which several poor families have installed themselves at the invitation of the Count and Countess Antoine de la Rocheffoucauld, hovers the stork.

The family bird has already made nine visits to the expectant mother, but this time it will find her, not in humble lodgings, but in one of the finest houses of old Paris, the doors and windows of which are barricaded in order to keep out the police. The doctor came to see his patient to-day and he had to be hoisted up to the first floor by means of ropes, as there was no other means of getting into the house.

The poor families thus enjoying a taste of wealth are the proteges of M. Cochoy, head of the Tenants League, who has a self-imposed mission of finding homes for the homeless. He has been in numerous conflicts with the police, but he generally comes out ahead, although once when he built a shack for his poor in the Jardin des Tuilleries he was forced to tear it down again under the orders of the police.

All Paris Visits "Fort."

"Fort" Lannes was the attraction of the day in Paris. Many wealthy Parisians came in their automobiles to visit the place and thousands of spectators occupied the slopes and the city fortifications opposite the mansion. The house stands in the midst of new and expensive apartment houses, it being the only old time two story house left in the block.

An enterprising brewer sent two casks of beer for the use of the guests at "Fort" Lannes to-day. These could not be hoisted up so a rubber tube was attached to them and the contents were pumped up the side of the building into various receptacles produced by the occupants of the mansion.

The occupants of the "fort" enjoyed a day free from anxiety as eviction warrants are not executed on Sunday.

M. Cochoy was summoned to the office of the commissary of police to-day and informed that the commissary had found homes for the tenants of "Fort" Lannes and that he must evict them to-morrow. M. Cochoy is not satisfied with this arrangement. He declares that in cases like this the police find homes for the poor tenants for a week or two and then turn them adrift again. He does not want the guests of Count and Countess de la Rocheffoucauld treated in this manner.

Countess to Shelter Tenants.

The Countess de la Rocheffoucauld promises to shelter her free tenants on her estate at Boulogne if they are evicted from their present quarters. She will keep them until some other arrangement can be made. She asserts the idea that her action in giving the use of the mansion on the Boulevard Lannes to M. Cochoy is due to a desire to annoy the owner, who is a woman. She admits that when she gave notice to the landlady in January that she intended to give up the mansion the owner placed a "to let" notice on the front of the house, so that she (the Countess) was annoyed by many would-be tenants. There were no less than sixty callers one day and the Countess removed the "to let" notice. The landlady then took the matter to the courts, which decided against the Countess.

U. S. WATCHES TOMATO CLUB.

Farm Girls Compete in Getting Up
Cheap Meals.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 27.—The Tomato Club, founded by Mrs. J. K. Turner among a group of farm girls in Cuyahoga county, and the recent attack on the high cost of living on the farm, also led by Mrs. Turner, have attracted the attention of the United States Government.

Miss H. May Bailey of the farm management office of the Department of Agriculture is at the Turner farm, near Chardon, to investigate the work being done. Miss Bailey is interested particularly in the contest among farm women to prepare the best and most economical meals in the farmhouse for the month of August.

"The need of such work among farm people has been apparent for a long time," said Miss Bailey. "Mrs. Turner is doing great work. I am much interested in the Tomato Club girls and I believe it will be a huge success and will be copied by people in farm communities all over the country within a few years."

"We, the Camp Fire Girls of the Seokola Club, promise each other that we will keep Camp Fire honor and truth through freedom from vulgar dances and all things which bruise the spirit of purity."

There are one thousand Camp Fire girls in Cleveland who are expected to join in the campaign. Among other things, they will establish a social boycott against devotees of such dances.

FALL 2,400 FEET TO DEATH.

Three Parisians Killed Ascending
Summit in Southwestern Alps.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
VILLENUEVE, Switzerland, July 27.—Three young Parisians were killed to-day in the Tour Salieres in the Valsalians Alps, between the Dent du Midi and the Salva.

The men wished to ascend to the summit, which is 10,547 feet high, by an unusual route despite the warning of the hotel keeper at Salva. The latter watched the men from the hotel. He saw one step on some projecting snow which broke off. The climber fell 2,400 feet and dragged his companions with him.

The bodies were recovered but have not been identified.

AUTOISTS' CHURCH IN CLOUDS.

Wyoming Pastors Will Preach to

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 27.—The "Sermon on the Mount" for the benefit of motorists who would not otherwise attend divine worship is announced for next Sunday by the ministerial association of this city.

To prevent the general exodus of motorists to the country on Sundays the clergymen will invite them to attend services on Sherman Mountain. It is expected that not fewer than 100 autos carrying about 400 persons will journey to nature's house of worship a week from to-morrow.

The Cheyenne ministers are first among the preachers in the United States, if not in the world, to provide services on a mountain top for the benefit of the motorists.
